

ANOKA COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE SHERIFF JAMES STUART

FRIDAY UPDATE: 04.27.18

Dating websites have been the source of a lot of fraud reports over the course of the last year. Below is an abbreviated version of a report an Andover deputy took this week:

I was dispatched to call a victim who advised me that he has had about $12,000 stolen from him. The victim advised that his wife had recently passed away. The victim advised he started using Match.com and became friends with a female who goes by the name of "Candice" on March 18th. The victim advised Candice had a phone number on her picture that can only be texted, not called.

The victim advised in conversation with Candice she told him that she was stuck in Nigeria on a business trip and needed money to get out and for attorneys. The victim advised me he started sending Candice money using Amazon cards and deposits into a Wells Fargo account. The victim advised in about five transactions he had lost about $12,000. The victim advised he started thinking that he was being taken advantage of and contacted a friend who told him to stop.

Scammers like this gain the trust of someone they believe is vulnerable. It was only because of the victim telling a story to a friend that he could validate his feeling that he was being scammed.
