

ANOKA COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE SHERIFF BRAD WISE

FRIDAY UPDATE: 09.29.23

Scams

09.26 The victim reported his identity had been stolen. He advised me that someone accessed his social security number and driver's license. He was not sure how his identity was stolen but was made aware of it when a car dealership called him about a recent purchase of a vehicle. He advised me that someone attempted to buy a 21 ACURA sedan from a dealer in Ohio using his social security number and driver's license information. He advised me that he noticed a credit check being completed and that is what drew his attention to the dealership. He spoke with the dealership, and they ultimately advised him they were able to stop the sale of the vehicle and had it returned after finding out that it was a fraudulent transaction. He explained that the purchase of the vehicle was attempted over the internet. I advised him to reach out to the local police department in Ohio and report the incident to them as well.

09.26 The victim called to report that she had received a letter from a company, Superior Servicing, approximately two weeks ago regarding the forgiveness or consolidation of her student loans. She said the letter appeared legitimate and appeared to be related to the government program "Free Application for Federal Student Aid" (FAFSA). The letter listed all of her personal information, including her social security number. She called the contact number on the letter and spoke to a customer service representative. The customer service rep asked questions about her employment, income, etc. to see if she qualified for their "assistance". She was then asked for her bank routing number and checking account number, which she provided. The customer service rep told her they would collect $300 for their fee. Emily thought this meant it was coming out of her current loan amount, not her checking account and they did not make that part clear. On 09/15/2023, $300 was taken out of her checking account by "www.eChk.to/sup 8662025126". She called her bank, and they froze her accounts and access. She also called NelNet, which is in charge of managing federal student loans, and they advised her she had been scammed and should contact law enforcement to make a report. She mentioned the University of MN recently had a large data leak that included students' social security numbers and other sensitive information.

09.28 The victim had $2K transferred out of his account to his father's account. They advised me that he and his father have a joint account to which this money was taken from and deposited into his father's own account. He spoke with his father, and he claimed his account was hacked. I spoke with the father via phone, and he stated that he applied for a loan through 79cash.com where he gave them his routing and account number to receive the loan from a place called 24 Cash Today. The loan was for $2,000.00 of which he never received. He stated that he filed a fraud report with his bank. I asked him to provide me with an account history print out to show that he never received any funds from the loan company. When reviewing the account, it shows that on 09/26/23 a transfer was made to the father from the joint account with a note "24 Cash Today" in the same column.
